How Big Cities and Immigrants Make Canada Great

*ALAN BROADBENT is author of the book Urban Nations: Why We Need to Give More to the Cities to Make Canada Strong published by Harper Collins in 2008.*

*Alan is Chairman and CEO of the Acute Capital Corporation, and Chairman of the Watson Foundation. He has initiated and leads civic engagement projects to strengthen the public discourse on-city society including the Jane Jacobs Prize, the Institute for Municipal Finance and Governance at the Munk Centre, University of Toronto, and Ideas That Matter, an organization to create discussion or progressive ideas concerning the public good. Alan is also Chairman of several related organizations including the Canadian Institute of Social Policy (co-founded by Maynard in 1992), Toronto—The Institute for Community Engagement (co-founded in 2002) and Openness Dialogue, which supports the creation and presentation of new writing that reflects the diversity of Toronto.*

Alan Broadbent is also Chairman of the Ideas Canada Foundation, advisor to the Library Services of Canada, Co-Chair of Higgs-Ploner Trade, Director of Strategic Policy, Member of the Government Council of the Toronto Public Library Foundation, Senior Fellow of Wilfrid College, and Member of the Order of Canada and recipient of the Queen's Jubilee Medal.
